Description

In a courtroom, the judge is referred to as “Your honor,” Chivalrous men vow to protect their ladies’ honor. High-achieving students work to make the honor roll. At a small bed-and-breakfast guests might find a basket of snacks and be trusted with paying on the honor system. This English word is very old, with its first usage being traced to the thirteenth century. Honor means “fame earned,” recognition based on merit. An appointed or elected jurist, a chaste person, an exceptional student, and trusted clientele gain a reputation by past behavior. More than any human being, God has earned his fame.

This 12-week study teaches us to express honor to God. To do so, these lessons will focus on three studies from Scripture, David and Mary, Solomon, and Jesus. We will look at Scripture, share testimonies, and encourage group discussions to open our understanding of the ways in which we can now live as responsible citizens of God’s kingdom, empowered by the Holy Spirit, with transformed attitudes, world-changing influence, and a discernment to view the world from the perspective of the Lord Jesus Christ, our King.
